Track 23

1. Mary: Did you find any information about American women in the 19th century? Our presentation is tomorrow.
Tom: Yes. I have some information about their lives.
Mary: Cool, tell me about it. What was life like for women?
Tom: Well, they had to stay at home. And they had to do all the housework.
Mary: That's too bad. What else did they have to do?
Tom: Oh, they had to study at home, they couldn't go to college.
Mary: No way! That's not fair.
2. Tom: What about you Mary? Did you find anything?
Mary: Yes. I found out about their work and their clothes.
Tom: Oh, what was work like for women?
Mary: Women had to stop working when they got married.
Tom: That's terrible. How about their clothes?
Mary: They had to wear long skirts. They couldn't wear pants.
Tom: Long skirts are nice. What else couldn't they do?
Mary: Well, they couldn't vote. And they couldn't travel alone.
Tom: Really?
Mary: And they couldn't choose a husband either.
Tom: Yeah, life was hard for women back then.
