Rebecca Stevens was the first woman to climb Mount Everest. Before she went up the highest mountain in the world, she was a journalist and lived in a small flat in south London.

In 1993, Rebecca left her job and her family and traveled to Asia with some other climbers. She found that life on Everest is hard. "You must carry everything on your back", she explained, "so you can only take things that you will need. You can't wash on the mountain, and in the end, I didn't even take a toothbrush. I am usually a clean person but there is no water, only snow. Water is very heavy so you only take enough to drink"

When Rebecca reached the top of Mount Everest on May 17 1993, it was the best moment of her life. Suddenly she became famous.

Now she has written a book about the trip and people often ask her to talk about it. She has a new job, too, on a science programme on television. Noah Webster's goal in life was to promote the adoption of an American language. He wanted to free Americans from British English as they had freed themselves from the British crown. To this end he published a series of three textbooks: a speller in 1783, a grammar in 1784, and a reader in 1785.

Webster objected to the way certain words had been borrowed from other languages but had not been respelled. The results, he claimed, was a confusing mixture of letters, many of which were not pronounced the way they looked, and other of which were not pronounced at all. Webster urged Americans to simplify their spelling. For example, he argued that "head" should be spelled "hed" and "bread" should be spelled "bred". Most of Webster's suggestions did not catch on, but his textbooks sold millions of copies.

1. Which of the following is the best title for the passage? 1.
 - A. Three books of Noah Webster
 - B. Noah Webster and the Adoption of an American Language
 - C. Simplification of Spelling
 - D. Noah Webster and the British Crown
2. According to Webster, Americans should 2.
 - A. avoid reading his three books
 - B. be ruled from England
 - C. simplify their spelling
 - D. not borrow words from other languages
3. In the last paragraph, the phrase "did not catch on" means ... 3.
 - A. were not appreciated
 - B. did not become popular
 - C. did not please anyone
 - D. were not intelligent
4. The problems that Webster tried to solve did NOT include 4.
